RE: Weatherdek Product Testimonial

Dear Adam:

I want you to know how pleased I am with the Weatherdek product and how well it has performed on my personal residence.

I have been in the home building business for over twenty years and recently built a waterfront home in Annapolis, Maryland (USA). A critical element in my home construction was a large 12' x 40' deck off of the master bedroom, which affords excellent water views. This deck is located over living space and had to be weather tight.

Our company has built thousands of homes in the last two decades and our product knowledge and resources are extensive. We have used other brands of PVC deck membranes more readily available in our local market. After extensive research on the internet, I proposed buying the Weatherdek product for my personal residence. My decision was met with extreme skepticism from my Contracts Manager, General Manager of Production, and our roofer, who typically does these installations. The Weatherdek product was of higher quality and significantly less expensive than the other deck membranes used locally. I am happy to say the product has performed better than expected. The Weatherdek product installed easily, the instructions were clear and accurate, and the end result is beautiful. I have enclosed a photo which I hope you will include in your future advertisements.

Please feel free to use me as a reference if you have customers who would like to speak with me about my experience with Weatherdek. I can be reached at (703) 917-6312.

Sincerely,

M. Courtney Treuth,
